NUMB. 1867

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1741.

ANSWER to J. S.'s Letter, Addreſs'd to a Freeholder of the County of York.

IT is with ſome Difficulty that I have prevail'd with myſelf to take Pen in Hand, to make a ſerious Reply to one of the moſt ſcurrilous and uncharitable Letters that ever appear'd in a civiliz'd and Chriſtian Country.

The Foundation of this Outrage (which is a barbarous Inſult upon the Diſtreſs of a Parent) is a pretended Piece of Conſiſteney in Mr. Turner, whoſe Conduct, in that Point, hath been juſt what might be expected from a tender affectionate Father, and a real Patriot; having paid the Debt of Sorrow to his Family, at laſt prompted by a Love to his Country in general, and an Affection, in particular, to the County which He had long repreſented with ſo much Credit, to diſcuſs all Conſiderations of Domeſtick Troubles, and offer His Service in Parliament, at a Time when he thought every Gentleman who expreſs'd a Satisfaction in his Conduct in the ſtrongeſt and moſt honourable Terms, had too large a Stake depending, to mean any thing, or regard any Thing but the Publick — Good. I appeal to the Heart of every diſpaſſionate Man, whether the moſt undiſguis'd Comment upon this Behaviour cannot do Mr. Turner the greateſt Honour: One would have hoped that an Action of this Nature might have been ſecure from all Attacks. That a good Man would have gloſs'd away the Merit of it; and that a bad Man muſt not have attempted it: But J. S. has got over both the other of theſe Difficulties, and in the Face of the Sun, without Bluſhing, has openly triumph'd in the Shame of his Atchievement.

But to come cloſer to Argument and Fact. 'Tis an Aſſertion the wideſt from Truth, that Mr. Turner's Reſignation the laſt general Election was a Satisfaction to the Country; the great Compliments paid to Mr. Turner at that Time, even by Thoſe who now oppoſe him in the Manner they do, ſufficiently ſhew the contrary; and 'tis certain, that if He had then offer'd his Service, the Noble Lord who ſucceeded him would have given him no Oppoſition. But J. S. ſays He ſhould ſtill have perſiſted in his Reſolution to retire. Why ſo? Or rather why ſhould Mr. Fox have alter'd His? He had likewiſe, at the laſt general Election quitted the Service in Parliament, and His continuing in that Reſolution would more effectually have preſerved the Quiet of the Country, than Mr. Turner had perſiſted in His: It muſt farther be remember'd, that Mr. Turner was firſt declar'd a Candidate, and if occaſioning a Conteſt be ſuch a mighty Crime as J. S. would have it, Mr. Fox indiſputably deſerves to bear the whole Weight of it. But perhaps J. S. may take it amiſs, that the Freeholders of this rich and large County have not tamely ſubmitted to whomever a certain Lord (whoſe Father has been many Years abroad at Bruſſels, and is a profeſt Papiſt) and a few Gentlemen in his Intereſt have thought fit to impoſe upon them: I own that a Diſappointment in ſo modeſt an Expectation might be allow'd a ſufficient Cauſe to operate a Don QUIXOT or ORLANDO: But that he ſhould be affected with it; J. S. whoſe Meekneſs and Humility glow ſo diſtinguiſhably in every Line of his Epiſtles, is a Paradox which I will not attempt to unfold.

As for Mr. Turner's Conduct in Parliament, He has declar'd in his Letter, that he always acted from a diſintereſted and unbyaſs'd Principle; Does J. S. pretend to the Contrary? Dare he aſſert that Mr. Turner ever gave any one Vote in order to get a Place, or out of Reſentment for having miſſed of one? And I leave it to any Freeholder to determine, whether the general Welfare of the Nation is not better underſtood by Mr. Turner than himſelf.

J. S.'s Effrontery is very great in the Query, ſo haſtily expreſs'd by him, Whether Mr Turner attended All how many Seſſions of Parliament, except a Piece of Oſtentation? when it is very well known that no one has more general attended his Duty in Parliament better than Mr. Turner.

But J. S. could not be ignorant that Mr. Fox was not given up by his Party till all the Yorkſhire Gentlemen of Fortune had refuſed the Offer, it was ſtrangely impolitick in him to touch upon ſo ſore a Place; when it is the moſt diſtant from Truth, That Every or Any Gentleman in Mr. Turner's Intereſt was tried before He was invited to Stand: Mr. Turner and no one elſe was thought of; He was unanimouſly fix'd upon as the moſt proper Perſon. Beſides, can J. S. ſuppoſe that there ever will be wanting Gentlemen in the County to offer their Service to it in Oppoſition to a Stranger? If Mr. Turner had not made ſo diſintereſted and honourable a Sacrifice of his Private Satisfaction to the Good of his Country, yet the declaring Mr. Fox a Candidate, would moſt infallibly have occaſion'd an Oppoſition.

As for the Army, it has been complain'd of ever ſince an unhappy deluded Queen broke hers, at the Inſtigation of a treacherous Miniſtry, to pave the Way for the Pretender; and there is not a Jacobite, or one ſuſpected to be ſo, who has not every Year talk'd in the Stile of J. S. which I think is a good Argument for any one's voting for it.

The Affair of the Convention has had the ſame Fate with J. S. as it has with many others, of being more talk'd of than underſtood; however, as I hear he intends a ſecond Edition of his Letter with large Amendments, I give him free Leave when he retouches this Point to embelliſh it with the following Remark: 'That the 'Convention (whatever falſe Aſperſions have been caſt upon it) did actually ſave the Freeholders two Shillings in 'the Pound Land-tax; for had the War been commenc'd 'immediately, the Land-tax would have been four Shillings 'in the Pound a Year ſooner than it was; which Surplus 'of two Shillings would have been more than what all 'the Loſſes of the Merchants amounted to for twenty 'Years together.

If J. S. has any Love either for Truth or Honour, he will at the ſame time take the Opportunity of begging Mr. Turner's Pardon for his clowniſh and moſt ill-grounded Inſult 'of allowing the Gentleman (as he expreſſes it) 'to forget himſelf,' Mr. Turner having really acted publickly in his Country's Service above thirty Years; tho' not quite ſo long in Parliament: In the Year 1706 he was made Deputy-Lieutenant of the North Riding, by Commiſſion from the old Duke of Newcaſtle; and in the Year 1708, he was at the Expence of equipping himſelf and ſetting out as a Voluntier to oppoſe the Pretender in Scotland. But perhaps J. S. will not agree that this was acting in his Country's Service; and then I fear, that inſtead of being a Plea, 'twill be made an Accuſation, and expoſe him to further Inſults.

Nov. 3. 1741. I am yours.

Extract of a Letter from a Merchant in the Weſt Riding of Yorkſhire.

—MR. Turner's Intereſt in this Part of the County continues to gain Ground every Day; the many ungenerous Methods made uſe of to leſſen it have had no other Effect than the Opening People's Eyes, and diſcovering to them a deſperate Cauſe, driven to ſeek Support from Artifice, Calumnies, and Chicanerie.

If it had not been evident before that the Party were reduc'd to their laſt Shifts, our Townſman J. S.'s Letter upon the Election would have put the Point beyond Diſpute; it is cover'd throughout with ſo thin and wretched a Maſk, that one cannot help diſcerning under it the Laſt Words and Dying Speech of Mr. F—; there wants nothing to make the PIECE in full Character, but the uſual Confeſſion, That he was led aſtray by bad Company; and a pious Exhortation, That his Dear Countrymen may take Warning by his untimely End.

As to the two Candidates with regard to their Zeal for the Woollen Manufacture,— Self-Intereſt may be allow'd to direct every one whoſe Bread depends upon it to a fair Enquiry into each of their Conducts; I aſſure you it has me; and tho' Mr. Turner does not appear to have been for parting with ſo conſiderable a Branch of our Trade to Ireland, as the Carding, Combing, and Spinning, yet he has been always more zealous to root out that Canker from it, the Exportation of Wool to FRANCE, than Mr. Fox can ever with any Reaſon be ſuppoſed to have been.

As for its being the Intereſt of Gentlemen on this Side the Water to let none of their Wool go to France, as is ſaid in a Letter in the York Courant of Oct. 3.— Thus much I will venture to affirm with regard to it, That till the Iriſh (who are not generally the moſt refin'd Reaſoners) can be convinc'd, that 'tis not for their Advantage to ſell their Wool to the higheſt Bidder, Mr. Turner's and every other Engliſh Gentleman's Endeavours will be ineffectual.

'Tis well known, that in the very laſt Iriſh Parliament, a Propoſition to prohibit the Wool-Smuggling met with ſo univerſal a Diſreliſh, that it occaſion'd as great a Clamour as the Convention *; the Iriſh Gentlemen in general alledging, that it would reduce the Rents of their fine Eſtates, increaſe the Price of Claret, and hinder them from living in a noble and hoſpitable Manner.

Leeds, Nov. 14. 1741. I am yours, Q. Z.

* 'Tis obſervable, that this Word has been in great Diſgrace with the Diſaffected ever ſince the CONVENTION which ſettled the Crown in the Proteſtant Line.

THoughts on Religion, and other curious Subjects.

Written Originally in French by Monsr. PASCAL.
Translated into English,
By BASIL KENNET, D. D.
Late Principal of Corpus Christi College, Oxon.

Monsieur Pascal, in his most excellent Discourse of the Misery of Man, tells us, That all our Endeavours after Greatness proceed from nothing but a Desire of being surrounded by a Multitude of Persons and Affairs, that may hinder us from looking into ourselves, which is a View we cannot bear.

Had that incomparable Person Monsieur Pascal been a little more indulgent to himself, the World might probably have enjoyed him much longer: Whereas, through too great an Application to his Studies in his Youth, he contracted that ill Habit of Body, which, after a tedious Sickness, carried him off in the 40th Year of his Age: And the whole History we have of his Life till that Time, is but one continued Account of the Behaviour of a noble Soul struggling under innumerable Pains and Distempers.

Dr. ROBERT EATON's
BALSAMICK STYPTICK.
Truly prepared and sold at the Doctor's late Dwelling House, now Mr. DUTTON's in Salisbury Court, Fleet-street.

THIS Medicine restrains in a most surprizing Manner, all internal as well as external Hemorrhages, i. e. it infallibly and quickly stops all dangerous Bleedings at the Nose or Gums, spitting or vomiting Blood; also the immoderate Flux of the Hemorrhoides or Menses; bloody Urine or Stools, bleeding of large Wounds, &c. (if used according to the plain Directions given with it) as will appear by the Certificates of several Eminent Physicians, and in the large Account of this Medicine, written by the Doctor himself, and dedicated to the College of Physicians, a little before his Death.

It keeps good for many Years, at Sea or on Shoar, at Home or Abroad, i. e. in all Climates, therefore must be universally Useful.

The Doctor not only obtained his Majesty's Letters Patent for the sole Vending of this most Excellent Medicine; but also a Clause in a late Act of Parliament, exempting this Medicine from the Inspection of the Censors of the College of Physicians, to which all other Medicines are liable.

N. B. Some of the Apothecaries prepare a Styptick from a Prescription of Helvetius, and use it in the Room of Dr. EATON's; but whoever tries both, will soon be persuaded that Our's exceeds their's in all Respects, in a most eminent Degree.

Sold, by Licence, at Garraway's Old Shop, Practical Scheme, at the Royal Exchange; Mr. R. Bradshaw's Warehouse behind the Royal Exchange; Mr. John Potter, Chymist, in Bartholomew Close; Mr. William Evans, Bookseller, in Bristol; Mr. Hammond, Jun. Hamburgh, Nov 7. Mr. Finch, the Britiſh Plenipo- ary, having while he was at Stockholm contracted a ular Acquaintance with Major-General Wrangel, was taken Priſoner at the Action of Wimanſtrand, ent t'other Day to pay him a Viſit? when the Ge- ſo ſooner ſaw him entring the Room, but he ran brace him, and ſaid, 'If the Pains you took, Sir, Stockholm for preventing a War, had been attended the Succeſs you expected, we ſhould not have w'd our Acquaintance at this Place.'

Paris, Nov. 25. N S. According to the laſt Letters Breſt, the Squadron which is equipt there is not ot like to go as yet from that Harbour, for one of incipal Officers of the Squadron writes thus, 'We the Riſque of lying in this Road all the Winter; at we are not like to go upon any Expedition this , the rather becauſe the Court has writ word hi- that the Proviſions put on board the Squadron be ſpent, which would not be the Caſe if we to go upon any conſiderable Expedition.

The Alamain publiſh'd here pretends to Advice by a arriv'd at Dunkirk on the 13th, That Admiral Ver- having landed his Forces in the Iſland of Cuba, the rds feign'd to retire, when two of their Detach- conceal'd in the Woods fell upon the Engliſh with vigour that they repuls'd them a good Way, and a conſiderable Number of 'em, ſo that out of 3000 that the Admiral put aſhore there, 1500 were kill'd wounded, beſides 300 of 'em taken Priſoners.

Rome, Nov. 10. Laſt Week we had Letters from Con- ople by the Way of Spalatro, of which the freſheſt of the 2d ult. They all confirm the Ratification of reaty of Belgrade with Ruſſia; and they add, that Swediſh Miniſters having ſome Days after this re- Advice of the Rupture between Sweden and Ruſ- went to the Grand Vizir and ſolicited the Suc- ſtipulated by the Treaty concluded betwixt the and Sweden ſome Days after the Treaty of Bel- but that the Grand Vizir made anſwer, in the firſt that the Porte was not in a Condition to enter into with Ruſſia, as they have all the Forces of Perſia their Backs; ſecondly, That they would do it never- if they were oblig'd to it by Treaty, but that ught before all things to know, who had been the or, the Ruſſians or the Swedes, the Port's Alli- with the latter being merely defenſive.

Frankfort, Nov. 23. A Sheet was begun to be publiſh'd which was to be periodical, intituled, The Turkiſh or the Dyet of Election, but the ſecond Sheet was to come out when all the Copies were ſeiz'd, and Printer and Bookſeller forbid to publiſh the Continu- ation of it. The Author was no Friend of the Court of France. The 10th being the Queen of Spain's Name-day, a fine Firework was play'd off in the Evening upon the Main, at the Expence of her Ambaſſador the Conde Montijo, who caus'd a vaſt Edifice to be built on the Banks for the Accommodation of the Gentry of both Sexes that went thither to be Spectators, which Edifice and his Excellency's own Houſe were illuminated with 50,000 Lamps and 10,000 Flambeaus.

FOREIGN PORTS.

Elſineur, Nov. 21. N. S. Since my laſt came in the Ships commanded by the following Maſters, viz. 'The Dutch Dogger detain'd in this Road by the 'Swedes having receiv'd Damage by another Dutch Ship 'which run foul on him in the Night, on which the 'Swedes have carried her to Landſcroona, on pretence 'of ſaving Ship and Cargo. How this will be reliſh'd 'by the Daniſh Court, Time muſt explain.

'The Gibraltar, Capt. Michell, from London, was go- 'ing into Leghorn the 3d of November laſt N. S.

LONDON, November 21.

There are Letters from ſeveral Parts of Bohemia, which ſay that Prague was inveſted on all Sides by the Troops of France, Bavaria, &c. and there are Advices of the 9th O. S. from Ratiſbon, that the Elector of Bavaria had actually ſummon'd it to ſurrender; but that the Commanding Officer there return'd for Anſwer, That he was reſolv'd to defend it to the laſt Extremity. They add, that there are 35000 Fighting Men in the Place, including the Militia, and the Inhabitants who bore Arms.

Letters from Breſlaw ſay, that the King of Pruſſia has preferr'd his Chamberlain the Baron de Pollnitz, Author of the well-known Memoirs of the chief Courts of Europe, &c. to be Director of the Military Academy at Lignitz.

A Marriage will ſhortly be celebrated between the Queen of Pruſſia's Siſter, the Princeſs of Bruniwick, and the King's Brother Prince William.

The March of the Ruſſian Troops to the Empire is at preſent deferr'd for particular Reaſons, of which the Great Ducheſs has acquainted the Hungarian Miniſter, the Marquis de Botta; but ſhe has order'd another conſiderable Remittance to be made to Vienna in Money.

The Letters from Italy adviſe, that 12000 Neapolitan Foot, and 1000 Horſe, were on full March to Abruzzo, from whence, as 'twas believ'd, they were to paſs thro' the Eccleſiaſtical State for Tuſcany, and were to be join'd by the Troops in the State del Preſidij.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, Nov. 20. N. S.

'Since the Arrival of M. de Buſſy from Hanover, it 'begins to be whiſper'd that his Negociations there 'were not ſo ſucceſsful as had been reported here; and 'ſo jealous is our Court become of that of London, that 'it is very doubtful whether the before-mention'd Mi- 'niſter will be ſent thither at all; the rather, becauſe 'ſome Things in the Convention of Hanover which he 'took upon him ſhould be underſtood in one Senſe, have 'been ſince taken in another: About which, it is ſaid, he 'expoſtulated pretty warmly with the Marquis de Malle- 'bois, who would notwithſtanding act conſiſtent with 'his own Notion of Things, and has accordingly ſent a 'conſiderable Body of Forces into the Biſhoprick of Oſ- 'naburgh.

'Whatever may be ſaid in our Gazettes, Things have 'but an indifferent Appearance in Bavaria and Bohemia, 'which has oblig'd the Marſhal de Belle-Iſle to demand 'a Reinforcement of 30000 Men; which our Court 'did not think fit to grant, but inſtead thereof ſent him 'Inſtructions to viſit the Courts of Dreſden and Berlin, in 'order to engage them to enter more thoroughly into the 'Deſigns of France, than hitherto they have inclin'd to 'do: And in purſuance of theſe Orders you may reſt 'ſatisfy'd that this Marſhal is actually ſet out for Dreſden.

'We grow daily more and more perplex'd in relation 'to the Conduct of the King of Pruſſia. His Troops 'paſs'd very near Troppau, which is the only Gariſon 'the Auſtrians have in Upper Sileſia, and, tho' the Place is 'very poorly fortify'd, did not offer to diſlodge them, 'but march'd on quietly into Bohemia, where they have 'paſs'd by Glatz, which 'twas thought they would have 'beſieg'd. Beſides, it is in a manner certain, that a new 'Treaty is on the point of being concluded between 'their Pruſſian and Poliſh Majeſties, and on this Account 'M. de Podewils, who is Miniſter of the Cabinet to the 'former, is actually at Dreſden. The Enemies of the 'Cardinal laugh at this News, and ſay, that his Eminence 'will not find the German Princes altogether ſo manage- 'able as he expected.

Extract of a Letter from Bath Town in North Carolina, dated Auguſt 18, 1741.

'We have five Privateers cruizing on our Coaſt, viz. 'two large Bermudas Sloops fitted out of Virginia, 70 'Men each. One Ship out of Cape Fear with 16 Car- 'riage Guns, 8 Swivels, and 120 Men, fitted out at the 'Gentlemen and Merchants Coſt. And two Sloops out 'of South Carolina, at the Country's Coſt, one of which 'took a Privateer belonging to St. Auguſtine, and retook 'a Ship they had juſt taken, and carried them into 'Charles-town in South Carolina, where the Privateer 'was condemn'd, and Capt. Rouſe's Foremaſt-men had '20 Piſtoles each to his Share. The Virginia Sloops fre- 'quently water at Oacricock, in hopes to meet the Spa- 'niards.

The Emanuel (a Sweed) Capt. Sher, bound from Gottenburgh to France, loaded with Iron and Plank, by hard Gales of Wind the 13th inſtant, O. S. was drove on the Sand called the South Wall near the Texel, and there ſtranded, but were in hopes of ſaving the Goods.

The Induſtry, Daniel Bird, Maſter, bound from Bidderford to Virginia, was taken two Days after her Sailing 16 or 18 Leagues S. S. W, from Cape Clear, by a Spaniſh Privateer of 14 Guns and 140 Men, who put 11 Spaniards on board, and carried her into St. Sebaſtians the 28th of October, She was their fourth Prize.

They write from Liverpool, that two Ships were loſt near that Place; one a Veſſel from Ireland, the other ſuppoſed a Weſt-Indiaman, ſome Bags of Wool being thrown aſhore, but don't mention their Names.

This Evening M. de Buſſy, Miniſter from the King of France, is expected in Town to his Houſe in Leiceſter-fields.

On Sunday last died at Chicheſter in Suſſex, after a lingering Illneſs, the Rev. Dr. Hargrave, Dean of that Cathedral and one of the Prebends of Weſtminſter Abbey.

We hear the Report of the Malefactors now under Sentence of Death in Newgate will not be made to his Majeſty till after the enſuing Seſſions at the Old Bailey, which begins the 4th of next Month.

Mr. Wilſon, of the OLDEST Lottery-office at Charing-Croſs, ſells Tickets and Shares of Tickets as cheap as they can be purchaſed by the Parcel in Exchange Alley, and much cheaper and out of ten-times the Variety of Tickets that can be met with at any other Office near him. The Lottery begins to draw next Monday at Nine in the Forenoon.

To the Author of a Paraphraſe * on the Reverend Mr. B---N's Elegy on Mr. HENDY the late Baptiſt Miniſter of Froom in Somerſetſhire.

THOU Foe to Merit, Envy's dulleſt Tool,
What haſt thou gained but the Title— Fool?
Thy bombaſt Lines to ſully B—n's Name,
By way of Contraſt, magnify his Fame.
A Paraphraſe is thine! but ſuch an one,
Dulneſs herſelf might be aſham'd to own.
What Fury urg'd thee, thro' the Gloom of Spite,
Guiltleſs of Manners, Senſe, or Wit, to write,
Abuſing Goodneſs! Charity Divine!
Which obvious in the Poets Numbers ſhine.
How ſweet his Strain! how gen'rous does he paint
The living Hero! and departed Saint!
" Tho' not exact in Sentiment the ſame"
He calls him Brother, glories in the Claim;
One was their View, tho' different in Name.
Could this provoke thy Spleen, and prompt thy Quill
To give a Sample of ſuperior Skill?
So Bigots paraphraſe the Sacred Text;
What's ſound and plain, make doubtful and perplext;
The nat'ral Import of the Words impede,
Tort'ring the Senſe to make it ſpeak their Creed.
